

Dear Federal Communications Commision:

I have heard of a newly proposed broadcast service which will be known as Low Power FM. I am concerned about this proposition as it may mean that I will lose my FM station, Airl, that my teens and I listen to constantly. This is the best station for our entire family, as it serves all of us, ages 52-5 years old! Since Airl never uses any profanity, or lewd speech, it would be detrimental to our society to have it removed. If you take the time to listen to this station yourself, you will hear many call-ins of listeners who have had life changing experiences as a result of this station. Please take some extra time in carefully considering this proposal. Thank you.
